

Adjustments to the Climate-Related Disclosures Regime

Jack Santa Barbara, Ph.D.

12/02/2025

My submission may be published; there is no confidential information included.

My submission can be very brief.

I think it would be a mistake for the government to make adjustments to the climate-related disclosures regime, given it is in early stages and seems to be working as planned. To reduce requirements when there is increasing evidence that the climate situation is worsening would be a backward step.

I also support the position taken in the submission by the Lawyers for Climate Action as below

https://www.lawyersforclimateaction.nz/news-events/our-response-to-proposed-rollbacks-in-corporate-climate-accountability?ss_source=sscampaigns&ss_campaign_id=679af8fc258cdc311f26318e&ss_campaign_name=January+Newsletter+-+Lawyers+for+Climate+Action+NZ&ss_campaign_sent_date=2025-01-31T00%3A05%3A52Z thank you for the opportunity of making a submission.